The way contemplation differs from Patanjali's yoga is that, instead of suppressing form, it actually makes use of form to lead you to formlessness. This is possible because, ultimately, form and formlessness are not two separate modes of being. Ultimately, as the Buddhists say, "form is emptiness, and emptiness is form."

You're constantly bringing spirit down into form, and you're constantly, as a form, moving towards spirit, or the formless. It's the dance of form and formless. It just keeps moving back and forth in those things, and you begin to experience your life as that, as moving in and out of all these planes all the time.

Buddhist cosmology is the description of the shape and evolution of the Universe according to the Buddhist scriptures and commentaries.. It consists of temporal and spatial cosmology: the temporal cosmology being the division of the existence of a 'world' into four discrete moments (the creation, duration, dissolution, and state of being dissolved; this does not seem to be a canonical division ...
